

Balama Graphite Operation – ISO Certification Update

Syrah Resources is pleased to confirm that it has obtained certification in ISO45001:2018 Occupational Health and Safety Management Systems, the world's first International Standard for occupational health and safety.

The Company is also pleased to confirm that it has obtained re-certification in ISO14001:2015 Environmental Management Systems. Our certification across these areas is testament to the ongoing hard work and dedication of the team and is indicative of the Company's commitment to pursue health, safety and environmental excellence at the Balama Graphite Operation.

Well done team and keep up the great work!
